Come heavy or don't come at all
                                                    I will put you down
You leave your peace at home that's your call
                                                    I will put you down
It never paid to be merciful
                                                     I will put you down
Come heavy or don't come at all
                                                     If the graves what you need
Come heavy or don't come at all
                                                     Are you ready
                                                                               (x2)
Been here before and watched a better man fall
                                                     I'm coming heavy
                     E
I smell the fear on you boy
                                                     Are you ready to let it all go
Come heavy or don't come at all
                                                     Come heavy or don't come at all
I will put you down
                                                     You leave your peace at home that's your call
I will put you down
                                                     It never paid to be merciful
I will put you down
                                                     Come heavy or don't come at all
for king and for country
                                                     I will put you down
I will put you down
                                                     I will put you down
I will put you down
                                                     I will put you down
I will put you down
                                                     for king and for country
If the graves what you need
                                                     I will put you down
You ain't a comrade or a friend
                                                     I will put you down
I ain't a brother ,i'm a means to an end
                                                     I will put you down
In times of war we live in.. hell
                                                     If the graves what you need
                      Bm
You can't trust a man in war... with him...self
                                                     I will put you down
I'll be the last breath you breathe
                                                     I will put you down
I'll be the last man you'll see
                                                     I will put you down
I'm gonna cut you at the knees boy
                                                     For king and for country
Come heavy or don't come at all
                                                     I will put you down
I will put you down
                                                     I will put you down
I will put you down
                                                     I will put you down
I will put you down
                                                     If the graves what your need
For king and for country
                                                     I'm coming heavy... ah
                                                     I'm coming heavy... ah
                                                     I'm coming heavy
